We are pleased to announce our new publishing initiative: Sociologica Curated. In this ebook format you can find thematic collections of articles published in Sociologica. The typical ebook is organized around one of our special issues, but often includes other pieces from the journal on that topic.

We hope this ebook format will be useful as learning materials in classes or as a support for students and researchers doing a literature review on a topic.

Sociologica Curated is available as a menu item on the same page where you find our current and back issues. <https://sociologica.unibo.it/pages/curated>. The format is user-friendly, allowing you to download the entire pdf and then click on the items in the Table of Contents to access a particular article.

Three ebooks are currently available:

- Power and Control in Platform Monopoly Capitalism, edited by Ivana Pais and David Stark.
- Doing Social Science via Comics and Graphic Novels, edited by Eduardo Barberis and Barbara Grüning.
- Journalistic Culture in the 21st Century, edited by Christopher W. Anderson.

Be sure to check this page regularly because we will soon be posting other ebooks, including, for example, a collection of recent interviews with prominent sociologists previously published in the journal. Enjoy the reading!
